

Remarks

Upon review of the English language translation of the German language version of the corresponding German application, it was discovered that in many instances the translation did not follow generally accepted idiom and the form of the German language version did not comport with the requirements of U.S. practice. Accordingly, many minor revisions were made in the translation to bring it into accord with accepted U.S. language and Patent Office practice. It is not believed that any new matter was added by the revision of the English translation. Should the Examiner have any questions or concerns about the amended translation, he is requested to call the undersigned.

It is believed the application is now in condition for examination and such action is respectfully requested.

Respectfully submitted,

RUDY GEENS, et al
